Festival Rush at City Markets

▶ Deputy Commissioner issues guidelines for simple Ganesha festival

▶ City Top Cop briefs Police Officers on Ganeshotsava do's and don'ts

Mysuru, Sept. 8 (RK&DM)- On the eve of Gowri festival (Sept.9) and Ganesh Chaturthi festival the day after (Sept.10), all Markets in the city witnessed a rush since this morning, with people thronging the marketplaces for purchase of fruits, flowers, vegetables, puja articles etc., required for the celebrations.

The footpaths along Dhanvanthri Road and Narayana Shastri Road were dotted by vendors selling flowers, fruits, vegetables and puja materials like banana plant stems, bilwapatre leaves, mango leaves and so on.

Devaraja, Vani Vilas and Mandi Markets in the heart of the city and the Market at Hebbal saw an unusual rush since today morning, as people came out of their homes to make purchases for the festival. Sevanthige (Chrysanthemum), which is the most sought after flower for festival, was being sold at Rs.30 to Rs.50 a metre. With copious rainfall resulting in higher yield, a large stock of the flower has hit the markets. A pair of banana stem is being sold at Rs.30 to Rs.40.

Meanwhile, it is learnt that the MCC is likely to order shifting of the flower market at Devaraja Market to adjacent J.K. Grounds later this evening in order to avoid crowding.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

According to the Madhya Pradesh High Court, "India is a conservative society, it has not yet reached such a level (advance or lower) of civilization where unmarried girls, regardless of their religion, indulge in carnal activities with boys just for the fun of it." The case that was brought before the Court concerned a woman who attempted suicide after her consensual partner told her that he was marrying someone else, then lodged a case of rape against him.

Instead of just dealing with the particular intricacies of the case, the Bench felt it fit to opine on Indian women's desires and personalities at large. While it's possible that the Prosecutor here feels she has gained justice, Court rulings create precedents which can affect the outcomes of future cases. That's where some of the trouble here lies. Between the assumption that women in India have no sexual selves beyond the contract of marriage, and how retroactive legal revocations of consent have implications on society's ability to adopt healthy sex-positivity, there's serious regression happening here.

Man who can change pupil size on command

Berlin: A 23-year-old student in Germany can reportedly shrink and enlarge his pupils on command, a feat previously thought to be physically impossible.

The dilation and constriction of the pupil were believed to be completely automated processes triggered by various factors, like entering a bright or dark environment, but a recent case study suggests that isn't always the case. A young student in Germany is believed to be able to voluntarily control the tiny muscles that adjust the size of the pupil, a feat once thought to be impossible. The authors point out that while some people can alter their pupil size via "indirect methods", this person is instead able to directly control the sphincter muscle in his eyes to adjust the size of his pupils.

Pensioner paying someone's taxes for 15 years!

Paris: A French pensioner has appealed to authorities to help him finally remain in charge of his own taxes and not those of his namesake, whose yearly taxes he has been paying for the last 15 years.

Having a popular name does have some advantages. It's easy to remember and people never look at you funny when you say it. However, it's not all good, as the protagonist of today's story will tell you. Francis Lopez, an 83-year-old man from Montpellier, France shares the same name, the same birth date, the same city and even most of the digits in his social security number with another man and for some reason, authorities always send him his namesake's taxes as well.

Lopez has been paying someone else's taxes for 15 years, but because of a new tax withholding law, he is afraid that it will really start to cost him.

Noise pollution by street hawkers

Sir,

I fully endorse the opinion expressed by Dr. M. Shyamprasad (Curb noise pollution by street hawkers, SOM dated Aug.28).

The street hawkers use amplifiers for their business and to give relief to their throats by continuously giving their products notification. No doubt it is helpful to them but it causes irritation to the residents and listeners.

Daily about 8 to 10 hawkers come on the streets with amplifiers. As this is a residential area, it causes irritation to residents, especially during afternoons. Hence, it is requested that the Departments concerned fix a limit to the sound by way of decibels.

Nagarahole tribals refuse to resettle outside hamlets

Seeing plight of those who have moved out of forest, families shy away to relocate

The Kolangere tribal hamlet located about 20 kms from Veeranahosahalli check-post gate at the entry of Nagarahole from Hunsur side.

Hanagodu, Sept. 8 (Mahesh &BCT)- While the Forest Department is spending crores of rupees every year to maintain the flora and fauna in Reserve Forests and Tiger Reserves in order to rake in the moolah through boosting safari, creating protected areas and attracting tourism, their efforts to move tribals from the forests have seen little success.

Though they have been successful in shifting a majority of tribals from the woods to settlements either in small towns or on the fringes of forests, still there are many tribes who have refused to move out as they are suspicious about the Department's intentions and at the same time, they fear that once they move out of the forests, their life would be bereft of natural living, forest culture, resources and happiness.

Though there is an order from the Centre that all tribals living inside the forests have to be relocated and resettled, there are exclusive settlements that have cared two hoots for the Forest Department's move to evict them. Take Kolangere Tribal Hamlet for example.

Though over 25 families have already moved out to settlements in other areas like Hebballa, Shettihalli and Nagapura resettlements in Hunsur taluk, over 10 families are still inside the jungles and have refused to move out and have rejected the Government package of fixed deposits and land.

The Kolangere tribal hamlet is located about 20 kms from Veeranahosahalli check-post gate at the entry of Nagarahole from Hunsur side and around 35 kms from Nanachi gate from Kutta side in Kodagu. They are Jenu Kurubas, an indigenous tribal community.

Demand more land, more money

Seeing the plight of those who have already shifted from the Kolangere hamlet and realising the 'betrayal' of the Government, the 10 existing families have refused to move out of the woods. To put pressure on the Government and the Forest Department, the tribals are demanding bigger houses than those that have been allotted to earlier settlers, four-acre land and also deposit Rs. 30 lakh instead of Rs. 10 lakh.

Tribal Mutha

"We have seen the condition of all the families that have been shifted from the forests. Our friends often narrate their sad state of affairs to us. We are at least in the middle of forests and are carrying on with our trade in forest produce and also depend on estate work. We are happy here and we do not want to be in neither here nor there situation as our friends are after they agreed to relocate," Mutha, a tribal youth said.

Cultural destruction

For over a century, conservation has resulted in cultural destruction and large-scale displacements of tribal people from their ancestral lands.

In a majority of eviction cases, State authorities did not follow due process established by national and international standards and many affected families did not receive compensation and rehabilitation benefits as assured by the Government.

Once the tribal families agree to shift from the forests, each family is given three-acre land and sowing seeds are supplied for three years apart from depositing Rs. 10 lakh in their bank accounts. A pucca house is built in the rehabilitated area and basic amenities are provided too.

Lack of trust

However, Jenu Kurubas who have been relocated from the forests to Nagapura at Veeranahosahalli complain that there is severe drinking water scarcity, lack of basic healthcare and educational facilities in the rehabilitation areas. Also, unemployment plagues them even after relocation.

The tribal people who volunteered to be relocated in 1998 were promised 5 acres of land as compensation but the policy is yet to be fully implemented. "We have lost trust in the Government and successive leaders have failed us and they come here only for votes," is their common grouse.

Successive Governments are to blame for the sad state of affairs as the tribals are left begging and pleading for basic amenities. Even after the tribals are allotted some land and money is deposited in their bank accounts, many depend on daily wages for living and their children have no access to education.

Efforts on to convince

But the tribals of Kolangere are not living a peaceful life inside the jungle too. Their houses are dilapidated and several of them are covered primitively with haystacks and tarpaulins. The tribals depend on coffee estate work at Kutta, Moorkal, Balele, Karmad and surrounding areas in Kodagu district. There is not a single school for the education of their children.

The low-carbon-footprint lifestyle of the tribal people has conserved the global environment for millennia and their wisdom and sustainable methods deserve to be recognised, adopted and promoted to effectively mitigate climate change.

"We know the value of tribals in forest conservation. As such, we have not forcibly evicted them. But the convincing tactics are on. We will continue to coax them to move out," Assistant Conservator of Forests (ACF) Satish said.

'Mysuru Police keen on real estate than crime'

Congress Committee castigates Police, Govt. for gang rape

Bengaluru, Sept. 8 (KMS& BCT)- A Fact-finding Committee constituted by the State Congress to study the issue of the recent gang rape near Chamundi Hill has blamed the State Government for its failure to deploy adequate number of Police and provide sufficient number of Police vehicles to maintain law and order in the city.

In its 31-page report to the Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC), the Committee headed by former MP V.S. Ugrappa said that the Police were morally responsible for the gang rape and demanded Home Minister Araga Jnanendra's resignation.

It also stated that frequent Police transfers, lack of coordination between the Police and other Departments and the diversion of Police personnel for VIP security worsened the law and order situation.

The Panel claimed that the administrative machinery in the district has collapsed owing to lack of coordination between District in-Charge Minister S.T. Somashekar, Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha and BJP Legislators.

During the Committee's interaction with the public, the people alleged that the Police have been giving more priority to resolving cases related to real estate and civil matters and not much about law and order. "This has impacted the functioning of the IAS and IPS Officers in Mysuru," the report said.

Among its recommendations, the Committee asked the Government to ensure that the case would come up for hearing in the next five months and to strengthen the Police force in a city that attracts lakhs of tourists.

Former Curator of Mysuru Zoo C.D. Krishnegowda no more

Krishnegowda

Mysuru, Sept. 8- C.D. Krishnegowda (91), former Curator of Mysuru Zoo and a resident of Indiranagar, passed away yesterday at his residence in city.

He leaves behind five sons and a host of relatives and friends. He was the elder brother of retired Dy.SP C.D. Jagadish.

While his eldest son Mohan is settled in America, his other sons Muruli, Mukund, Manu and Madhu are staying in Mysuru.

Last rites were held at his farm 'Saraswathi' on Chamundi Hill Road this afternoon, according to his youngest son Madhu.

A native of Chikkanayakanahalli in Saligrama holi of K.R. Nagar taluk in Mysuru district, Krishnegowda did his Primary and PU education in Mysuru and obtained his B.Sc Degree at Central College in Bengaluru.

He was appointed as the Joint Director at Lal Bagh and was later appointed as the Curator of Mysuru Zoo, which was under the Horticulture Department in 1958. He retired as the Curator in 1990 after serving for 32 long years.

Krishnegowda had undergone training in Zoo maintenance at Munich in Germany and had undertaken various developmental works at Mysuru Zoo making it famous worldwide. He was also instrumental in getting Giraffe, Chimpanzee, Gorilla, Elephant and other animals from Africa under Animal Exchange Programme, thus making Mysuru Zoo famous for having variety of animals in captivity. This helped the Zoo in getting a lot of visitors not only from across the country but also from across the globe which resulted in crores of rupees revenue to the Zoo annually and also making Mysuru Zoo one of the must visit tourist spots of Mysuru.

It was during his period that breeding of captive wild animals got a push, which added one more feather to the cap of the Zoo. He also brought Karanji Lake under Mysuru Zoo and had got islands built in the lake, which not only attracted variety of birds including migratory birds but also made the lake a tourist attraction.

Though he strongly opposed the proposal of handing over the Zoo to the Forest Department, the Zoo was handed over to the Forest Department in 1992.

Considering his yeoman service to Mysuru Zoo, Krishnegowda was selected for the Rajyotsava Award in 1984, but following the assassination of the then Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, the award presentation programme was cancelled.

When Mysuru Zoo celebrated its 100th year in 1992, Krishnegowda was felicitated by the then Chief Minister S. Bangarappa.

Villagers object for cremation in lake area

Taluk Administration urged to develop burial grounds

Bettadapura, Sept. 8 (Shivdev& KS)- Deprived of facilities such as water and light at the burial and cremation grounds in the village, last rites are being held in the dried area of the village lake, which has angered the public, who have not only objected to it but have also expressed anger on the Taluk Administration for its negligent attitude.

Villagers said that though there is a burial ground in the village, it is not developed and it lacks facilities such as water and light and even an access road to it. There is just a name board saying that it is a burial ground, they added.

They said that cremating or burying dead persons in the lake pollutes water, which may spread diseases not only to human beings but also to animals which come to the lake to quench thirst. Though the lake is half-filled, it gets filled during rainy season, they added.

Pointing out that there is an Anganwadi, School and residences adjacent to the lake, the villagers said that Anganwadi and school children, who go the school every day, can see the burial and cremation taking place, which could have an adverse effect on them.

Though there is a law stating that cremation and burial should not be held in lake areas, the same is going on and the Taluk Administration officials had turned a blind eye towards it.

The villagers have urged the Taluk Administration authorities to develop the burial grounds and provide facilities for it besides demanding to take steps to stop cremations from taking place in the lake area.

Piped cooking gas a reality by 2023: MP

Mysuru, Sept. 8 (PM&BCT)- The woes of booking cooking gas cylinders, waiting for supply and carrying it to top floors will all be things of the past soon. The dream of procuring cooking gas through pipeline at home — Piped Natural Gas (PNG) — will be realised by 2023 as over 40,000 homes will get the supply in the first phase. The plant will be set up at Hebbal with an investment of Rs. 600 crore.

This was disclosed by Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha, who held a meeting at Jaladarshini Guest House in city this morning with representatives from AG&P Pratham India, the city gas distribution arm of the Singapore-headquartered AG&P Group that has bagged the tender to supply piped gas for Mysuru.

Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha (third from left) displaying a booklet on Piped Natural Gas (PNG) project at Jaladarshini Guest House in city this morning. Others seen are AG&P Project Planning AGM Ashish Bisen, D. Devaraj Urs Backward Classes Development Corporation Chairman R. Raghu Kautilya, Chief Operating Officer of AG&P Pratham India Chiradeep Datta, Associate Vice-President, Mysuru GA, Arun Nayak and Marketing Head - Karnataka, Nitin Huilgol.

"The plant will be set up at Hebbal. This company has bagged the contract and approval from Petroleum and Natural Gas Regulatory Board that regulates the refining, processing, storage, transportation, distribution, marketing and sale of petroleum, petroleum products and natural gas," the MP said.

The Centre has been striving to make India a gas-based economy and the current share of gas in India's energy mix is 6 percent, the Government has set an ambitious target of increasing it to 15 percent by 2030.

"Since natural gas is also used in households as PNG, increasing the user base for this cooking fuel is one of the ways to effectively move towards our natural gas targets. Also, the rising use of CNG-powered vehicles can also help drive the goals," he noted.

The Centre had sanctioned piped gas projects to Mangaluru and Bengaluru and now it has been sanctioned to Mysuru. By 2023, over 40,000 households will get gas to their homes and it will be expanded to the rest of the city in phases. AG&P Pratham India will supply PNG to Mysuru, Mandya and Chamarajanagar, Pratap Simha added.

Under the authorisation, the company is allowed an exclusivity period of 25 years for laying, building and expanding infrastructure for supplying natural gas in gaseous, liquid and compressed format. Under the eight-year infrastructure plan at Mysuru, Mandya and Chamarajanagar, gas will be supplied to five lakh households and 171 Compressed Natural Gas Stations will be established, said Arun Nayak, who heads the operations in three districts.

Natural gas is lighter than air and highly combustible. It has lower environmental impact when compared with other types of fuel. It is a safe fuel as it operates at low pressure and it is not stored in cylinders. It burns completely with no residue. It is economical as the cooking gas would come up to about Rs. 608 per month while the LPG costs Rs. 1,000 a month, Nayak claimed.

Apart from permission to lay a gas pipeline to supply gas to domestic households and commercial establishments, permission will be sought to lay a pipeline from Bidadi to Mysuru through Ring Road.

Mysuru DC issues guidelines for simple Ganesha festival

Dr. Bagadi Gautham

Mysuru, Sept.8- In the wake of the Government granting permission for a simple Ganesha festival due to COVID-19 crisis, Mysuru Deputy Commissioner (DC) Dr. Bagadi Gautham has asked the officials concerned to ensure that all Government SOPs are followed strictly during the festival.

He addressed the officials at a meeting held at his Office on Tuesday on the measures to be taken for ensuring that norms are not violated during the celebrations at homes or public places.

Noting that Ganesha idols of height not exceeding 4 ft. can be installed at public places and idols of not more than 2 ft. height at homes and other private places, Dr.Gautham said that Ganeshotsava Samithis and Mandals should take prior permission from local authorities and all concerned Departments.

Maintaining that Ganeshotsava organisers should mandatorily possess COVID-19 negative report and vaccination certificate, he said that according to Government guidelines, all organisers should hold vaccination drives at the local level at the spot of public Ganeshotsava.

Cultural programmes like music, dance and such other entertainments will not be allowed during Ganeshotsava, he said and asked the devotees to mandatorily wear mask, maintain physical distancing of at least 6 ft.and use hand sanitisers.

Continuing, the DC said that public celebrations must not create hurdle for vehicle movement and all norms must be followed during idol immersion. The idols installed at homes must be immersed at homes itself and those installed at public and private open spaces must be taken to immersion tanks or mobile water tanks set up specifically by the MCC, the District Administration, local bodies and Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) for immersion, via the nearest routes, sans any procession or large gathering, he noted.

ZP CEO A.M. Yogesh, MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy, SP R.Chethan, Additional DC Dr. B.S. Manjunathaswamy, DCP Pradeep Gunti and other officials were present at the meeting.

Install eco-friendly Ganesha idols

Meanwhile, the District Administration has appealed people to install only eco-friendly Ganesha idols. In a press release, Additional DC Dr. B.S. Manjunathaswamy said that KSPCB has imposed a ban on use of POP (Plaster of Paris) and pigment coloured idols.

Highlighting that rivers and other water bodies get polluted due to immersion of such idols,he reminded that the KSPCB, taking into account the hazardous effects that POP and pigment coloured idols would cause to water bodies, had in the past launched a campaign for using eco-friendly idols made of wheat flour mixed with turmeric powder or ragi flour.

Upload photos of turmeric Ganesha idols

Pointing out that the District Administration has launched "Arishina Putta Ganapathi Poojisona, COVID Nivaaranegaagi Parisara Snehi Habba Aacharisona"(Let us worship a small turmeric idol of Ganesha and celebrate an eco-friendly festival for driving out COVID-19) campaign, Dr. Manjunathaswamy said that as a promotion of this campaign, the members of the public can upload photographs of turmeric Ganesha idols made by them in: kspcb.karnataka.gov.in, YouTube @kspcbkarnataka, facebook @kspcbofficial, Twitter @ karnatakakspcb and Instagram: kspcb_official portals from 6 am on Sept.8 till 6 pm on Sept.10.

Dr. Chandragupta

Mysuru, Sept.8 (RK&DM)- Ahead of Gowri-Ganesha festival, City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta held a meeting of senior Police Officers at his Office here this morning and briefed them on the norms to be followed by Ganeshotsava organisers and members of the public during the festival, in the wake of the COVID crisis.

Addressing the Police Officers, Dr. Chandragupta said that members of the public must install eco-friendly Ganesha idols of height not more than 2 ft. in their homes while idols to be installed at public places must not be more than 4 ft. in height.

Prior permission must

Pointing out that it is mandatory for Ganeshotsava organisers to take prior permission from the owner of the land where the idol will be installed, he said that it is also mandatory to get NOC (No Objection Certificate) from MCC, CESC and Fire and Emergency Services Department, before the Police can issue permission for public installation of the Ganesha idol.

Noting that the Police must educate the people that the Government has set out 'Only one Ganeshotsava in one Ward in urban areas and one in each village' norm, the Police Commissioner said that prasada distribution and taking out processions are completely banned.

Continuing, Dr. Chandragupta said that organisers should ensure that only 20 people gather at one point of time and compulsorily conduct thermal screening of devotees besides ensuring COVID appropriate behaviour.

He also said that the organisers must keep fire extinguishers ready as a precautionary and safety measure and it is also their responsibility to keep round-the-clock vigil of the idol.

Five days

Asserting that Ganeshotsava is given permission to be held for a maximum of 5 days, he said that the Police should ensure that there are no bursting of crackers, public address system or such other means of public celebration.

He asked the Police Officers to create public awareness on Government guidelines and to carry out constant monitoring of Ganeshotsava celebration for violation of any norms or other Government SOPs that have been issued in the wake of the deadly pandemic.

DCPs Pradeep Gunti and Geetha Prasanna, ACPs and Inspectors of all Police Stations attended the meeting.

Gang rape at the foot of Chamundi Hill

All seven persons arrested

Five sent to judicial custody; minor sent to Government Balamandira; another accused likely to be produced before Court this evening

Mysuru, Sept. 8 (RK&BCT)- All the seven accused in the gang rape case that occurred at the foot of Chamundi Hill have been arrested by the City Police. The seventh accused was rounded off from a village near Tirupur yesterday and has been brought back to the city.

The seventh accused has been identified as Selva and he was on the run as he had knowledge that all his accomplices had been arrested. He had switched off his mobile phone knowing that the Mysuru Police were tracking him down with the help of Tirupur Police.

Though there were rumours that the last accused in the case was arrested two days back, the City Police were tight-lipped. Today they have confirmed that the culprit has been arrested and has been brought to Mysuru. The arrest team was led by Krishnaraja ACP Poornachandra Tejaswi.

The Police are likely to produce the accused before the Court this evening and will seek Police custody for interrogation.

Last evening, the Cops produced other six accused, who were arrested earlier, to the Court as the 10-day Police custody ended. The Court has remanded the five accused to judicial custody while the accused minor has been sent to Government Balamandira as per the guidelines of Juvenile Justice Act.

Based on the statements given by the seventh accused, the Police are likely to seek Police custody of all the accused who have been sent to judicial custody. "All depends on the statements of the last accused and we will re-seek Police custody if there are grounds and more angles need to be probed," said Police sources.

The Police are making efforts to find out the actual age of the accused minor as he has claimed that his age is 17.

After the infamous 2012 Nirbhaya gang rape and murder in New Delhi, the Juvenile Justice Act, which allows children aged between 16 and 18 years and in conflict with the law to be tried as adults in cases of heinous offences, took effect in January 2016.

The City Police, however, did not subject the minor to medical tests, sources said.

Hailing from Karkala in Udupi district, Sangeetha completed her schooling till 12th standard in KGF. Later she moved to Mysuru and completed two years of painting course in Sri Kalanikethan College of Visual Arts.

She has participated in more than 30 painting camps like Voice of Colours held during 83rd Kannada Sahitya Sammelana, Wet Canvas at Chitrakala Parishat and in the State-level camp organised by South Western Railway.

Also Sangeetha has won many awards from State Education Department, Akhila Bharatiya Vikas Kendra-Aurangabad, Student Development Society-Pune and at Mysuru Dasara.

Speaking to SOM, Sangeetha said, "Teaching art for the students of Government Schools was a big challenge for me. Many students come from poor financial background and cannot afford expensive colours, pencils and sketch books. So I started providing all the related items to them. Later participation of students increased after they realised the fun of art and craft."

"Also many students made art out of waste vegetables and have won prizes in major competitions. The idol of presiding deity Chamundeshwari made of clay has won the prize in a State-level competition. I request the State Government to appoint an art teacher in every Government Schools in order to encourage students towards art and painting," she urged.

He further said that entrepreneurs must scout for opportunities in the global digital economy, which are available aplenty now.

Vidyavardhaka Sangha office-bearers submitted two memorandums to the Minister on the occasion — One, seeking the Government to bring Arts Section of Vidyavardhaka First Grade College on Seshadri Iyer road under additional grants; Two, to grant permission for filling up vacant posts that are lying unfilled since the end of December 2015 at the aided section of Vidyavardhaka First Grade College.

'NEP to change the face of education'

Minister Dr. C.N. Ashwathnarayan clears students' doubts at Maharani's College

Mysuru, Sept. 8 (MTY&BCT)- The National Education Policy (NEP-2020) is set to change the face of education in India and the Government will spare no efforts in the next 20 months towards its implementation, said Dr. C.N. Ashwathnarayan, Minister for Higher Education & Information Technology and Biotechnology, Science and Technology and Skill Development.

He was addressing a seminar on NEP jointly organised by Maharani's Women's Science College (Autonomous), Maharani Arts College and Maharani Women's Commerce and Management College in the city yesterday and said that NEP aspires to empower students by grooming them to become globally competitive.

"The education policy is completely student-friendly. It will change the face of education in India. And in collaboration with the innovation industry, technology is going to play a big role. The Union Government has set a timeline of 15 years for the implementation of NEP. However, the State Government has decided to facilitate its implementation in a speedy manner. The Government will make all efforts in next 20 months to ensure maximum coverage," he said.

Karnataka, an IT hub of the world, has become the first State to implement the NEP. The State has also translated the policy document into Kannada and formed a task force for its implementation. Karnataka started the admission process for the new academic year on Aug. 23 and will fully implement the policy from Oct. 1, he added.

The Higher Education Minister said that the onus of implementing the NEP lies on Universities and managements of institutions. "This could be implemented within the available subjects and we can consider adding more subjects in the following years to come," he added.

He said so far, the Government has provided more than 3 lakh devices to students pursuing education in Government institutions and more than 2 lakh devices will be provided to students this year. This will enable anytime and anywhere learning for students with content par excellence. Assessment is also done digitally through these devices for students. "We are trying to ensure 100 percent net connectivity with upgradation of digital infrastructure in the State and 4G availability in more than 85 percent of the State's geographical area. Learning programmes are also telecast on television," he added.

Later, speaking to media persons, the Minister dismissed the allegations of Opposition party leaders on NEP, saying that it will benefit students of Government institutions to the maximum extent.

Universities, Colleges, private institutions and faculty have welcomed NEP and are eager to implement NEP. But, Opposition leaders are finding it difficult to digest the positive response pouring in favour of the policy. They don't want good to happen neither for students nor the country, he said.

"We are ready to answer any question to be raised by the Opposition related to NEP on the floor of the House. The issue is being discussed for seven years and it is tough to collect opinions now," he said.

Dr. Ashwathnarayan said the Congress party was trying to create confusion unnecessarily. All communities will benefit from NEP but Congress is not interested in developments. No wonder they are trying to oppose without any valid reason, he noted.

The Minister also interacted with students and faculty of Maharani's College.

MLA L. Nagendra, Karnataka Exhibition Authority Chairman Hemanth Kumar Gowda, CADA Chairman Shivananjaiah, Joint Director of Collegiate Education Prof. K.C. Veerabhadraiah, Maharani's Science College Principal Prof. M. Balakrishna, Arts College Principal Dr. B.T. Vijay, Commerce and Management College Principal Dr. G.H. Mahadevaswamy and others were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Gasconade

Pronunciation: gas-kuh-NAYD.
Meaning: Gasconade is confident talk or behaviour that is intended to impress other people.
Origin: The citizens of Gascony in southwestern France have proverbially been regarded as prone to bragging. Their reputation has been immortalized in such swashbuckling literary works as Alexandre Dumas' The Three Musketeers and Edmond Rostand's Cyrano de Bergerac. Linguistically, the legend survives in the word gascon, meaning "a swaggering person" or "braggart," as well as in gasconade itself.
Example: "His malevolence was only equalled by his audacity,—and this was, if possible, surpassed by his gasconade." — Nathaniel Pitt Langford, Vigilante Days and Ways, 1996.

THE ODD WORD

Galeiform

Shaped like a helmet.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Greatest thing since sliced bread

Meaning: That something is the best and most useful innovation or development invented for a long time.
Origin: Sliced bread was first introduced in 1928 by Otto Frederick Rohwedder from Davenport, Iowa, who invented the first loaf-at-a-time bread slicing machine. However, the first record of the idiom is thought to be in 1952, where the famous comedian Red Skelton said in an interview with the Salisbury Times: "Don't worry about television. It's the greatest thing since sliced bread."
Example: "I've bought a new touchscreen computer, it's the greatest thing since sliced bread, I can't believe I ever worked without it."

QUOTE BOX

Good bread is the most fundamentally satisfying of all foods; and good bread with fresh butter, the greatest of feasts.—James Beard
